

Organizations Providing Medical Supplies and Humanitarian Aid

Razom for Ukraine - Razom, which means "together" in Ukrainian, is a volunteer charity organization that was founded in 2014 to support Ukrainians after Russia annexed Crimea.

GlobalGiving Ukraine Relief Fund - GlobalGiving is using all donations to support humanitarian assistance to impacted communities in Ukraine, as well as the surrounding regions where refugees have fled. Donating to the cause will provide basic necessities such as shelter, food, clean water, including health, psychosocial support, access to education and economic assistance and more.

Americares - Americares' emergency response teams are in Poland to distribute aid and support health services of affected families. Volunteer medical personnels are also on standby to provide surge support in neighboring countries. Donations help deliver medicine, medical supplies and cover other emergency hospital services.

Save the Children - The London-based organization works to provide life-saving aid to children around the world, including 400,000 children "caught in the crossfire of this adult war" in Ukraine who already required assistance.

Project C.U.R.E. - The Denver-based nonprofit provides humanitarian aid including emergency relief beds and surgical supplies like gowns, gloves and drapes. It has compiled a list of needed medical supplies on its website.

World Central Kitchen - Founded in 2010 by Chef José Andrés, World Central Kitchen has been on the frontline providing meals in response to humanitarian, climate and community crises while building resilient food systems with locally-led solutions. World Central Kitchen is currently working to serve thousands
